ballaratcameraclub.org.au

Welcome to 2026.

A new year, a new meeting place and a new editor of Flare.

Many thanks to Judy for her work and dedication to getting the Flare out monthly over the last few years. I only hope that I can come close to her Flare achievements.

I would like to commence my editorship with a call out for any suggestions, ideas or thoughts about what we can do in this newsletter. I am happy to make any changes or additions that members would like to see.

I have made some changes to the layout of this edition, mainly in format that I am more comfortable with.

I hope that you get value out of this edition.

Jerry

EDITORS NOTES:

Street markets are a gift to photographers: colour, character, rhythm, and real human stories unfolding in every direction. Our upcoming outing to the Talbot Markets in Talbot offers a classic Australian setting—historic streets, local producers, musicians, and a relaxed country pace that rewards careful observation.

What to Photograph

- People & interactions: Stallholders chatting with customers, hands exchanging produce, musicians mid-performance, kids with fairy floss. Look for gestures and expressions.

- Details & textures: Crates of fruit, handwritten price signs, weathered timber stalls, fabric patterns, dust on boots.
- Wider scenes: Layers of people moving through the street, stalls receding into the distance, historic shopfronts framing the action.
- Moments: A laugh, a pause, a glance—anticipate rather than react.

Camera & Lens Suggestions

- Lenses:
  - 35mm or 50mm for natural, immersive street images
  - 24–70mm for flexibility
  - 85mm or short telephoto if you prefer working a little more discreetly

- Camera mode: Aperture Priority or Manual with Auto ISO works well.
- Starting settings:
  - Aperture: f/4–f/5.6 (good balance of subject isolation and context)
  - Shutter speed: 1/250s or faster to freeze movement
  - ISO: Auto, capped around 3200–6400 depending on your camera
- Focus: Single-point AF or zone AF; consider back-button focus if you use it.

Helpful Hints for the Day

- Arrive early: Softer light, fewer crowds, and stallholders setting up.
- Watch the light: Use open shade from awnings or buildings; avoid harsh midday contrast when possible.
- Get comfortable with people: A smile and a nod go a long way. If someone notices you, acknowledge them—often it leads to a better photo.

- Tell a story: Think in sequences—wide scene, medium interaction, tight detail.
- Be respectful: This is a community event first, a photo opportunity second.

Street markets reward patience and curiosity. Slow down, blend in, and let Talbot reveal itself frame by frame. You'll come home with images that feel authentic, local, and uniquely Australian.

Betty has offered to create a video with the pictures taken on the day.
